PRESSURE TREATED WOOD CORROSION

At the BNHBA General Meeting of January 28, 2004, Michael McDole, Sales Manager of National Lumber Company, and a Director of BNHBA, delivered a most informative report about the newly introduced PRESSURE TREATED WOOD. This product was introduced due to the voluntary stopping of production of the old pressure treated wood that contained toxic arsenic. It is expected that the inventory pipeline of the cupric arsenate pressure treated wood will be exhausted by April/May 2004. There is a concern that the new pressure treated wood is more corrosive than its predecessor. Mike noted that hot dipped galvanized fasteners must be used to install this new wood.

Butch Thurston, Cape Cod Lumber officer, and a member of BNHBA, informs us that the new wood is pressure treated with Alkaline Copper Quat compounds. There seems to be an increased level of concern about the corrosive nature of the new pressure treated wood compounds. These new compounds appear to be the cause of substantial corrosion to metal flashing, metal structural components/braces/supports and metal fastening devices. He has provided the following links to web sites that will help you understand what you must use to install the new pressure treated wood in construction:

Cape Cod Lumber Company 'Contractor's Appreciation Night'

Rich Saladyga, General Manager, Cape Cod Lumber Company, Mansfield, has provided a fully sponsored booth for Bristol Norfolk Home Builders Association, Inc. at the "Annual Contractor's Appreciation Night" to be held at Lantana, Randolph, MA, on April 8, 2004. We are most grateful for this opportunity to meet with our members at this wonderful event. Again this year, Cape Cod Lumber will provide very generous credits to new members of Bristol Norfolk Home Builders Association, Inc. that join BNHBA the night of the festivities. So, bring a friend to the gathering. Stop by our booth-ON THE MAIN FLOOR-and help your friend join BNHBA. Your friend will thank you-AND YOUR FRIEND WILL ENJOY A BONUS CREDIT OFF CAPE COD LUMBER PURCHASES.

FAIRVIEW MILLWORK SALUTED

The Bristol Norfolk Home Builders Association, Inc. is most grateful to Ted Mahoney, President, Fairview Millwork for their generous donation of 6 Boston Celtic Tickets and 8 Boston Bruins Tickets that were contributed to our General Meeting raffle on February 25, 2004. BNHBA sends a very special salute to FAIRVIEW MILLWORK.

BNHBA invites other firms to consider donations to our monthly General Business Meeting raffles. You may also wish to consider donations to our Annual Golf Tournament raffle. Proceeds from the Golf Tournament help us fund the BNHBA Trades Scholarship Education Fund.
